

Updating the good gathering guide

[WIP] [HELP: pingouin/robin on the FOLLE]

What makes a gathering good?

A question that faeries have tried to answer for ages. Some faeries got so worked up about it that they came up with a guide: The Good Gathering Guide. But 99% of the faeries don't know about it. This is the start of a project to update this guide (it's been 4 years since it was last updated!), and have it widely known and available to anyfaerie on the FOLLE.

Here is the current version of the guide

IMPORTANT: There will be a group reading session during the last week of February where we go over the guide and think about how to revamp it together Please fill in a time that would work for you here.

Date and time for the meeting : Thursday Feb 26 4PM Paris time. We're doing it on Signal:

<https://signal.group/#CjQKIPJz17DUglyLJfZpaDX5lmy3LOSx-NKuIHZiR5C6arKEEhCpAoGVbAfcBzjxAPHQYwi2>

Timeline for the project:

Mid to late February:

- Making the content of the guide known to everyone, gathering opinions and feedback and missing pieces.
- Group reading session last week of the month to have a more involved discussion

2 first weeks of March:

<https://atlasofthefairies.com/faq/> previously accumulated to have a first draft of the updated guide on the FOLLE.

3rd week of March:

- Go over the first draft to refine things: Any section that is too content-rich gets refined so that the general advice is moved to a dedicated book (EX: if the "managing the kitchen" session is too long we make a book about cooking and keep it short in the good gathering guide).

Late March to early April:

- The good gathering guide is shared widely to facilitators and faerie folks. Yippee!!!!

Révision #8

Créé 2026-02-12 12:40:04 UTC par robin

Mis à jour 2026-02-23 06:44:41 UTC par robin